Miracle: "BROOM" on All Network Stations

By C. Leon de Aryan

When I was subpoenaed to appear before the un-American investigating committee of Labor Racketeer Tenney as a "witness against Communism" I suspected some dirty work and said so. Chief investigator for the committee, R. E. Combs, categorically denied any intention of "entrapping" me for smear purposes, but my surmise was correct.

"The Committee" itself was headed by a musicians union former president who had been in cahoots with Communists when he wanted to be elected president of the musicians union and who turned anti-Communist when the Combies kicked him out of the presidency. What chance could I, a pronounced rugged individualist, have of a square deal by this Tenney? And I didn't. My mere reply to the questions whether I attended Bund meetings being YES, was thereafter twisted into "bragging, admitting, friendship with notorious Bund leaders" by the racketeer press of the nation. And Tenney himself went on the air and called me subversive. What could an individualist, like myself, expect from the collectivists? They know not honor, they keep no pledges, they are out for power and pelf by hook and by crook.

Hundreds of reporters have attended Bund meetings.

Now I am being honored by having been mentioned on Saturday night, during the 10 o'clock all network program, April 18, somewhat like this:

Herr Goebbels sits in his office; a messenger appears: "I have bad news for you, Herr Goebbels, Social Justice has been put out of business in America." — "Ach, Du lieber Himmel!", says Goebbels, "das ist bad". — "But I have some good news, too," continues the messenger, "The BROOM continues to circulate through the mails". — "Ach, das ist gut", sighs Goebbels.

GUTS TO UPHOLD PRINCIPLE

Anyone who knows me, knows what my feelings are about Goebbels, of all people. I, a stickler for principle, he, a perverter and unscrupulous racketeer, without the slightest hesitation, to serve his brutal aims. But I have the "guts" to stand with the truth and say it!

WHY DO I RATE, SUDDENLY, NATIONAL ATTENTION ???

When a "rowdy little newspaper", as LIFE called the Broom, becomes so important that it has to be mentioned on an all-network propaganda program, for fear that it wake up the people to the war profit racket, then, indeed, we must be dangerous to them. And what is the danger?

I announced myself as a prospective candidate for congress on the program of Abraham Lincoln, namely, that the United States of America return to constitutional horse and buggy days of issuing ITS OWN MONEY, to refinance the national debt to the tune of 150 billion dollars or whatever heights it soar, with non-interest bearing bonds. In that manner we would freeze our national debt so it could NOT GROW on us over night by adding interest and compounding interest. While we froze the debt we could, then, go about our business to restore normal American standards of life and finally retire the debt without having to pay interest on it.

Just imagine! — the idea! — taking the profit out of war "financing"! Everybody else must sacrifice, property, liberty, blood and life, — but the international war financiers must get their interest and compound interest and that "subversive fellow de Aryan" announces such a REVOLUTIONARY plank in his platform as prospective candidate for congress. Now that Father Coughlin has been denied the mails, naturally that dangerous man who insists on saving the Republic by constitutional means, has to be silenced, by foul means, if needs be.

And that is why we rate national attention. Every sheet controlled by the yellow crowd is yelling for my scalp.

I Have a Birthday Coming

Now I have been subpoenaed to appear in Sacramento to "testify as a witness against Robert Noble and Ellis O. Jones", but the subpoena calls for all my correspondence with E. O. Jones; V. Cherep-Spiridovich, of New York City; J. F. Garner, Wichita, Kansas; Court Asher, Muncie, Indiana; William Kullgren, Atascadero, California; George Paganelli, New York City; "Copperhead Notes", Los Angeles; "Publicity", Wichita, Kansas "The X-Ray", Muncie, Indiana; "The Beacon Light", Atascadero, California; "The Christian Defender", New York City.

I have no doubt but that the above named persons, at least some of them who reside in California, have been subpoenaed to bring their correspondence also and among the list there might have been included on their subpoena C. Leon de Aryan, San Diego California; "The Broom", San Diego, California. And I don't even know the majority of the persons named, nor had correspondence with them.

Why before the "Foreign" Grand Jury?

The idea is to prove that a combination of small publishers have been publishing identical or similar material and this is to be used as evidence of a conspiracy to "overthrow the government" by force and violence, "made in Germany".

So, that's the setup.

But I have a birthday coming. I was born August 18, 1886, in Roumania, father Greek, mother Polish. And what I need now is birthday presents. Don't wait till August 18. Send your congratulations in now and the most effective of them all, is financial. Just roll out your dollars, your quarters and dimes. I cannot tell how many days I'll be absent from my work, in Sacramento, but the BROOM must come out on time and the radio program has to be on the air. Send as much as possible.

This means you, my friend; if you believe in individual rights, in the right to a free press, now prove it by doing your bit. All you need to do is wrap up your contribution in blank paper, stick it in an envelope, address: THE BROOM, East San Diego, California, — and do it NOW. You certainly can at least spare a dime for freedom of the press! — one of the four freedoms we are fighting Hitler to bring to the whole world, everywhere, why not in San Diego and the U. S. A. — so if we have to, eventually, why not NOW ???

Editor Going to Sacramento

(Thursday night 9:45, KGB, April 23)

Yesterday morning I was served with a subpoena, duces tecum, issued by the district attorney of Sacramento county, to appear as state's witness before the Foreign Grand Jury, so-called, next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the court house in Sacramento, California. In the affidavit of the District Attorney, while applying to the superior court for the subpoena, it states that my presence and my files of letters, telegrams, printed matter, pictures, etc. are necessary and that I am a material witness for the People in the action vs. Robert Noble, Ellis O. Jones and others. "That said books and documents are material to the issues involved by reason of the following facts:

"That they are necessary to prove the above named defendants being members of a governing body of an association known as the "Friends of Progress", which directly and indirectly advocated, advised, taught and practiced the duty, necessity or propriety of controlling, conducting, seizing and overthrowing the Government of the United States of America and of the State of California by force and violence;

"Further, they are material to prove membership in an organization which has for its purpose the overthrow by force and violence, either directly or indirectly, the Government of the United States of America and of the State of California;

WHEREFORE, affiant prays that a subpoena Duces Tecum be issued requiring the said C.

Editor, The Broom,
San Diego, California.

Dear Sir:

Your fantastic story in last week's issue concerning the property belonging to my children, condemned by the federal government and part of Camp Elliott and my testimony only tells a part of the story, and your informant deliberately misrepresented the facts.

There were three parcels of land in the condemnation suit: The Belden property purchased in 1913, the Bryan property purchased over twenty-five years ago and the Heald property purchased in 1940 before we had any idea the government intended to condemn. You only mentioned the Heald property. These three properties, including interest and taxes and crediting revenue, cost us nearly $25,000. Three government witnesses testified as to the value at $10 to $11 an acre. Our children offered to settle for $20,000 before the case went to trial. The government offered $15,500 the day the case went to trial and the jury gave us a verdict of $18,307 or a little over $16.00 per acre.

The land is within eight miles of the center of San Diego, nearer than La Mesa or Chula Vista and the government price for it is ridiculously cheap. The land had its own water supply and a mile and a half of highway frontage on state highway No. 395, and part of it is in San Diego River Valley to the center of the river. The government without a lawsuit, paid over $25.00 an acre for 2800 acres in Camp Elliott adjoining this property on the north and two miles further out. They also paid without lawsuit over $50 an acre for many hundreds of acres twelve to fifteen miles away.

For five years the Ed Fletcher Co. gave the free use of its property, over 600 acres in Camp Elliott in World War No. 1 and the Ed Fletcher Co. and the writer have three letters of appreciation for services rendered the United States Government in connection with Camp Elliott.

Assuming that you have consideration for fair play, please print this letter on the front page of the paper as you did the libel last week.

Sincerely Yours,
ED FLETCHER.

P. S. I am not running for Congress.

Leon de Aryan to attend as a witness at the hearing of said matter before the Grand Jury of the County of Sacramento, State of California, on the 28th day of April, 1942, and to bring with him the above described books and documents. (signed) Otis D. Babcock, District Attorney."

I was served with the subpoena by Police Officer R. L. Wade, yesterday (Wednesday) morning and I informed him that I could not accept service to appear in Sacramento unless they furnished me with transportation and expense money; I also claim the witness fees since I am losing money every day that I neglect my job here in San Diego. Of course, the witness fees are merely a fraction of my financial loss per day. I also sent an airmail letter to the District Attorney in Sacramento advising him of my financial inability to appear as requested.

Fletcher Doubled the Ante

PATRIOT TRIED TO SKIN UNCLE SAM

The Copley papers reported that State Senator Ed Fletcher, on behalf of the Grossmont Park Co. owned by Fletcher's children, had set a $44,816 valuation for 1122.30 acres of Kerney mesa land, which is completely serrated by gullies; the top of the short mesas being 300 feet higher than the bottom of the gullies. This Fletcher calls "good subdivision lands" with "its own water supply". Sure there is water at the San Diego river, but not firm water since A. R. Sauer, the late publisher of THE HERALD, knocked the daylight out of land and water rights racketeer Fletcher, carrying on a lonely fight, pioneering from the superior court on and pushing through a battle by the city to recover from Ed Fletcher, and his crowd, the paramount water rights of the city of San Diego to the San Diego river watershed. Having finally licked this water rights racketeer in the supreme court of the U. S. A., and having been sued by Fletcher for libel and persecuted through the courts, Sauer's untiring efforts pried loose the water rights, but real estate racketeer Ed Fletcher, our state senator, mind you, is still at his old tricks, he brags that his land, which he tried to push over on U. S. for double the amount he now confesses he was willing to accept before going to court, has its own water supply. But, Ed, don't you know it does not mean firm water, since that belongs to the city and all your libel suits against A. R. did you no good, you old scoundrel!

How much would it cost to lift the water from the 50 foot level to the 400 foot elevation of the Mesa by pumping? Besides why did Ed value the land at $40 an acre when he was willing to take $20 before going to court? And he says he paid $25,000 for it, evidently he threw in his license plates and the old tires, too, when he figured out that one. He paid about $5000 for the Heald estate, and did not record it in his own name but had to drag in his girl employee who had to play his game or lose her job, so it was recorded in her name. And this comprises over 900 acres. So we have about 200 acres left. Did Fletcher pay $20,000 for 200 acres when he paid only $5000 for 900 acres?

He can tell that one to the marines at Camp Elliott.

AS YOU SOW SO SHALL YOU REAP

In this world of sin and sorrow,
There's a price we all must pay;
Our reward will be according,
To the seed we sow each day.

Life is what we choose to make it,
We have self alone to blame;
What we sow on life's plantation,
We are sure to reap the same.

Sow your seeds of kindness daily,
Helping others here below;
For you know that on the morrow,
You will reap just what you sow.

So then as through life you journey,
Be ye loyal, faithful, true;
There's a harvest day soon coming;
What you reap depends on you.

Then have love one for the other,
If God's blessing you would keep;
For the Master he has spoken,
"As you sow so shall you reap."

—James Victor Heinrichs.

County Supervisors Played Cheap Politics

(Thursday night 9:45, KGB, April 23)

The legal time limit for fixing the salaries of elective county officials has passed and the board of county supervisors has adopted a resolution retaining the same salaries as in the past with a few minor exceptions in the case of Judge Howell of National City and Chula Vista district and some civil service employees. The discrepancy between salaries paid by the city and county is flagrant and inexcusable. I said before, we pay our city manager $1000 a month while we pay the county assessor only one third of that amount and the assessor is handling the whole financial setup of city and county. I have criticized our city administration in specific instances where I figured they had it coming, but looking at it in a general way we must confess that both, Mayor Benbough and Manager Cooper, have done a pretty good job of it during these times of hysteria, emergency and the unprecedented expansion of population with its defense works, cantonments, and emergency traffic. I, for one, am willing to give the devil his due. Looking back upon other administrations, it is quite evident that we have had less friction and more results to show for since Benbough brought Cooper in, than in any previous administration under city managership. So I would say that Cooper and Benbough earned their money, even though I called the mayor a stuffed figurehead on various occasions, where he gave me that impression, when he was acting as social head of the city.

On the other hand the county officials also have more than earned what salary they have been receiving and it is high time they be paid according to what their services are worth on the basis of what we are paying city officials for same class of work. Some of the officials are bound to die, or retire. Unless we provide a proper compensation for the vacated offices we are not going to get good material to run for office. It is penny wisdom and pound foolishness not to pay the worker the full value of his services.

That does not apply merely to elected officials, but to every employee in the city and county. I hope the civil service commissions will realize it.

Preventing Misery

NEW YORK.—Although the industrial boom has siphoned off many pools of unemployment, the present conflict has created so many special situations unknown to the public that private charity is hard pressed to cope with them. The Greater New York fund—comparable to community chests in other places—is obliged to seek $5,000,000 to prevent misery. An entirely new civic responsibility is assistance to widows and orphans of merchant seamen who perished in the flames of torpedoed tankers.

Scarcely an empty bed is open in a Manhattan hospital and a long list of patients waits accommodation. As family doctors are snapped up by the army fresh lines of sick people head for the big clinics. The demand for additional day nurseries is urgent, since more and more mothers must enter munitions plants. Family problems, aggravated by emergency strains, throw increased burdens on agency visitors. Institutions must teach homemakers nutritional diets to fortify health against influenza and other war diseases.

No Witch-Hunts, Please

Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle made a magnificent start in his determination to protect the civil liberties of America in wartime, but there are disturbing signs that he may soon succumb to terrific pressure for a witch-hunt.

Unfortunately much of the demand for a Nazi-style crackdown comes from people who like to think of themselves as liberals. They expose their milk-and-water faith in democracy when they become terrorized by the rantings of crackpots and screwballs.

The Progressive has no more use for the individuals and publications under attack than have those who want them suppressed. But The Progressive does not want them driven underground and The Progressive does not want to award the halo of martyrdom to some of the worst elements in our country.

The suppression of free speech would at once wreck at home one of the basic "Four Freedoms" for whose enforcement throughout the whole world we are prepared to spill the blood of millions of Americans.

As far as morale is concerned, we believe the revelations about Standard Oil, the failures of Jesse Jones, the scandal of the $1-a-year-men, and a host of other developments in recent months have placed a far greater strain on morale than all the rantings of the lunatic fringe combined.

Union Fights Ban On Social Justice

NEW YORK.—The American Civil Liberties union argued that the postoffice department's action in barring the newspaper Social Justice from second class mailing privilege, constituted censorship without trial.

In a telegram to Postmaster Gen. Frank C. Walker protesting the action, Roger N. Baldwin, union director, said:

"While we hold no brief for the editorial policy of Social Justice and detest its intolerance, we deplore summary action under the espionage act. If the precedent thus established is extended, no periodical enjoying second-class mailing privileges is safe from the threat of an arbitrary censorship not subject to court review on facts, and when desired, by the judgment of a jury."

Madagascar

NEW YORK.—The presence of Japanese fleet units sweeping the Indian ocean, taking some punishment but still strong enough to annihilate important British warships, has revived in Allied headquarters the worry that Tokyo will also stab at Madagascar, the French island off Africa, as large as Texas. If the enemy ever gets established there—the first Nipponese foothold on the Dark Continent—he can decimate troop-filled American transports headed for our new base at Eritrea, thinly protected because heretofore this area was as safe as a millpond.

Petain mumbles that he will not permit the encroachers on his colonial soil but realistic soldiers remember that a Vichy-Tokyo bargain in Indo-China unlocked the back door to doomed Singapore. New York shipping interests just have received a confidential survey from Johannesburg intelligence men, recently returned from investigating the danger spot. The jungle is seething with hatred for the Allies. Every breath of De Gaulle sentiment has been choked ruthlessly. Embittered officers itch to pay off old scores with English admirals.

But, even more serious, is the disclosure that several thousand Madagasy infantrymen are training with modern artillery and machine guns. The smartest natives have been made into aviators. Recently this force conducted large scale field maneuvers and their general boasts they are now the toughest "black devils" in the French empire.

cans and Filipinos there. Not so, says Clark Lee of the Associated Press, who covered the fall of Manila and reported the defense of Bataan for two months.

Writing from Australia, where he arrived two weeks after Gen. MacArthur, Lee reported that the Filipinos are puzzled by our failure to take the initiative. Reminding Americans that by far the largest part of the archipelago is still under the American flag, Lee wrote:

"From what I have seen of the American torpedo boats in action, I believe a few squadrons of those hard-hitting, speedy vessels in which Gen. Douglas MacArthur began his trip to Australia could keep the island's inner shipping lanes entirely clear of the enemy."

"There are dozens of air fields and scores of ports in the inner Philippines from which American planes and ships could operate. There are American and Filipino forces on almost every island."

Winking at Enemy Trade

WASHINGTON.—Since the war's outbreak der fuehrer has permitted (and London winks at the operation) five Swedish ships a month to trade with South America. They carried manufactured goods on the westward crossing and returned with foods and textiles. Neither belligerent side molested those vessels. Within the month, however, Germany has modified the arrangement so that the freighters may engage in commerce only with the Argentine and Chile—the countries which have not broken relations with our enemies. They remain the two danger spots of the Americas.

Beckwith Reverses Himself

WHY NATIONS GO TO WAR & WHO PROFITS FROM WAR
(From THE FORUM, Stockton, California)

What can be gained by war that cannot be gained by ordinary commercial methods?

We can buy all the tin and rubber and other products from other nations that we have the money to buy.

No compulsion is necessary to induce them to sell to us; hence that is not the purpose of war.

So long as men are permitted to claim as their own any of the rent—that is, any of the payment over and above the charge for housing, they are naturally interested in controlling the location of trade centers.

To accomplish this, they seek to control tariffs and other conditions affecting rent where they do the collecting.

This meddling leads to international complications that often result in war.

No one profits by this meddling, except those who profit by the collection of rent at the expense of those who maintain the conditions because of which the rent is paid.

They, and they alone, profit from war.

Editor's Note:—Before England declared war on Germany Beckwith claimed there would be none, because the rent-takers would lose money. We claimed that Rothschild & Co. stood to make more money from war, as they have since they financed the war against George Washington. Now what a somersault for Beckwith!

PM Daily vs. Broom

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

If what this Jewish Newspaper says about you is true will you please accept my sincere admiration for your true Christian and American spirit above all the organized intimidation and hysteria of this war.

I shall be glad to have you put me on your subscribers list.

Yours for America First All The Time.

W — — New York City.

Gentlemen:

As a sincere follower of Father Coughlin's and reader of Social Justice you can imagine my feelings after reading the 7 page article about Social Justice and others in Wednesdays (4-15-42) PM paper.

The article did furnish me with your address and as I suspect that you too will be clamped down I see no sense in subscribing but I would like to get some of your back issues before this happens.

Please let me hear from you.

Sincerely yours,
M — — New York.

Four Freedoms in the U. S. A

My dear Mr. M. — —

Thanks for your letter, but you are a very unpractical person. Why did you not enclose a copy of the PM paper? Luckily, there were other people who did send me some. I cannot possibly subscribe or exchange with exery publication, so in this War of Survival it becomes necessary that all who think as I do, keep me informed, promptly.

I have no intention whatever of being put out of business by being "clamped down".

I have been clamped down upon before, in fact all my life, but I am still in circulation and in evidence: I stand with the truth.

"Father, Thy Will be done, not mine!" in the secret of my continued circulation upon this material globe. For myself, I'd rather live in lovelier spheres, among my own kind; but being in the Lord's service, I have to stay here yet awhile, to be about my Father's business. The transition from cannibalism and barbarism to humanitarianism, is a very slow and gradual process and calls for the presence of intrepid souls who can stand firmly and continue to point to the truth that mankind may not be lost in the mire.

If I can take it and come back for more, you certainly could, at least, have gambled on a subscription. But, instead, you had the cheek to ask for free copies and propitiate defeat. Better change your attitude if you are not to be counted among the goners. An optimist is a person who takes a two year subscription to the Broom, and besides, helps pay for the radio program. That's the spirit of Victory for the Four Freedoms in the U. S. A.

Sincerely yours,
C. LEON DE ARYAN.

A Hard Hitting Editor

Hon. Frances Biddle,
Attorney General, Dept. of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

I believe that the Department of Justice may be still considering the matter of instituting proceedings against C. Leon de Aryan of San Diego, to revoke his citizenship. He is editor and publisher of a weekly paper, THE BROOM.

Inspired solely by an interest in justice, I recommend that you drop any such proceedings if already started, or cancel any plans to commence same.

Having known Mr. de Aryan for years, and read his paper intermittently, I am sure he has never committed any crime. Despite the drastic character of recent Federal legislation affecting speech and the press, I am sure that no competent jury, free from bias, could convict de Aryan on any charge arising therefrom.

Mr. de Aryan has been accused of the malicious publication of anti-Jewish sentiments based on racial prejudice. He denies the accusation.

No one deplores racial prejudice, or despises the expression of it, more than I do. But whether the truth rests with this accusation, or with the denial of it by de Aryan, I think it should be scarcely necessary to point out that we have no laws relative to any expression of racial prejudice, and the constitution wisely permits none, except as the laws on slander and libel may protect individuals. We recognize that racial prejudice is something to be corrected by the influence of a wholesome public opinion.

I have had very little dealing with Mr. de Aryan. The kindest thing he ever said about me, to my knowledge, was to call me the lesser of two evils when I was a candidate for political office. On another occasion he sought the same position that I hold. More often than not, I disagree with his views.

I would not undertake to say whether the net influence of his paper is good or bad. He is a hard hitting editor. Some persons call him eccentric. Many dislike him. These facts do not make him a criminal nor a bad citizen. It is well for America that not all her citizens are cast in the same mould. I know that de Aryan is raising an excellent family, that he has the reputation of being hard working, scrupulous in his dealings, honest and honorable in a business way.

In my opinion, the whole case concerning de Aryan may be summed up by saying that personal enemies, or officious busybodies of small mentality, during the stress of the times, are trying to take reprisal.

The foregoing is my unbiased opinion. I am now, and have been for more than seven years, a member of the California legislature. Sincerely yours,
PAUL A. RICHIE,
Member California Assembly.

Letters To GladysALCHEMY OF LOVE

Dear Gladys:

Thanks for your interesting letter. So you are now studying the effect love has upon people, upon certain people. Of course, you have to start with yourself, because you cannot know anything which you yourself are not capable of experiencing. A blind person cannot see, a deaf person cannot hear, a dumb person cannot think etc.

Love is a treasure from God. The possessor of the treasure cannot enjoy it except by making use of it.

One of the best examples is mother-milk. The young mother has a treasure in her blood that can be converted into a nourishing food for her babe. That is why her breasts are sweet. There are all kinds of degrees of spiritual-ly evolved people.

You know that if a milch cow is not milked on schedule she gets sick and finally loses her milk. There is not much spirituality in the cow, but the process of delivering her fluid gives her relief from pressure and a pleasant sensation. Giving milk is a natural service and Providence has provided a reward for the servant in the pleasurable feeling, the satisfaction of relief and the increased renewal of fluids out of surrounding material taken in as food, drink and breath. The health and normal functioning of the cow depend upon her satisfactory delivery of her milk. Of course, there are other factors also involved but for our present study we investigate just this one.

A girl who is highly spiritually developed does not merely feed her infant physically, but with the sweetness of her milk goes the sweetness of her soul when she blesses her young one as he feeds. If she realizes the importance of the act and the influence it has upon her child, she then understands that he does not thrive on milk alone but on every thought that animates her. The material fluid that passes into the child follows the direction of the mother for well or ill in all degrees and nuances between these two extremes. There lies the alchemy of love, or hate, or fear . . .

Love's treasures must be used to produce benefit to the owners of it.

The girl who is jilted by the boy she loves discovers that the very energies he called out in her turn to sharp torture in the same measure that they would have produced bliss. Because she cannot exercise her feelings naturally and release them in responsive action that would have resulted in blessed family life and an improved generation as well as civilization, she feels and suffers in proportion as the milch cow does when not milked on schedule. In fact the cow does not care much who milks her so she is relieved of the pressure and we find that she will give the milk to the human hand as readily as to strange animals. Pigs who are wise to it often milk the cows in pasture. Of course, originally, the milk was intended for her own calf, but perverse civilization carries the blame and must take the consequences.

PM, New York Daily, Features THE BROOM Again.

In the issue of April 15, PM, the New York daily, presented a very good picture of myself and also a quotation from my column, entitled "Letters to Gladys" of March 30.

The Broom, San Diego hate sheet published by C. Leon de Aryan, said Mar. 30:

"It was never intended that colored people be settled in the regions now comprising the U. S. A. . . . But we saw that our people 'opened up' Japan . . . and now an adjustment to original boundaries of the yellow and white races is in process of being worked out by brutal force. People who are fundamentally Mongols . . . have been admitted to equality with Caucasians. This Eurasian and Afro-Asian influx has created conditions that jeopardize the individualistic, sovereign ideology of the true American, who considers himself king and sovereign, while he admits his fellow American to the same prerogatives, thereby establishing a new relationship upon earth, that of Royal democracy."

If every man should mend a man, himself, then all mankind were mended.

Alchemy is a divine science, since it deals with spiritual powers. You must realize that every animated being is a spiritual spark of consciousness, and all consciousness is based in the sense of I AM.

I AM is the same in me as in you and every conscious cell or being. It simply registers: I AM. That is the foundation of consciousness or the EXISTENCE of God, the Father: I AM, the Lord, thy God!

The qualifications of existence, then, determine the manifestation of life. I am an animal, I am a man, I am female, I am good, I am intelligent, I am healthy—you can be anything you really love to be. The feeling which accompanies the THOUGHT is the alchemy that determines the quality of material. You can eat with horror in your heart and the food turns to poison. You can eat with joy and pleasure and the food turns to "health". That is why higher evolved people cannot feed on carcass. The thought and the feeling that accompanies every action determines its final result, the harvest.

Alchemy and telepathy are closely related. Unless the two parties have the same substance there is no responsive action. The sending and receiving instruments must not only be keyed rightly but also must be of the same metallic quality. If they respond to the same impulses there is contact. In alchemy one speaks of higher and lower metals, of a heart of gold and a character that's nothing but brass.

Because love is a treasure from God which must be used to be enjoyed, the direction of profitable use must come from God, the Father, therefore THY WILL be done in earth as it is in heaven. The girl who was jilted need not despair, she can turn to God for instructions and find every ideal means for utilizing her treasure as He directs. In divine Intelligence there is no waste; Providence has worked a means for every possible complication, all one needs to do is seek the RULE of God in each particular instance and by this infallible rule discover the remedy. Practice, of course, is the only means to growth and strenght.

Leon de Aryan, California pro-Nazi editor of the Broom, has bragged of his friendship with the German-American Bund.

The assurances came from J. T. Thorson, war services minister, who informed commons that complaints had been made to the National Broadcasting Co., of the United States. NBC replied that action had been taken "which, it is believed, will be effective", said Thorson.

(Close, a California author unsympathetic to Great Britain, has been broadcasting each Sunday from an NBC station in San Francisco. No official of the radio network was available either there or in New York City to detail what measures had been taken with regard to the broadcasts to allay the Canadian criticism.)

Thorson's statement was made to the house of commons in answer to a question by T. L. Church, Toronto Conservative, as to whether the government's attention had been directed to "the offensive broadcasting for the NBC of one Upton Close and his tirades against Britain".

DENIES SLUR ON BRITAIN

LOS ANGELES,—Upton Close, writer and lecturer, declared in a statement that "the implication made by a Canadian parliament member that I have made broadcasts offensive to the British people is without substantiation."

Wire Tapping O. K.'d After Amendment

WASHINGTON,—New legislation broadening the powers of federal agencies to resort to wire tapping and communications interception to combat anti-government elements went before the house with the approval of the judiciary committee.

Introduced by Rep. Celler (D-NY), the legislation was redrafted by the committee after extensive hearings to meet objections of some members that the original version gave too great a grant of power.

As amended, the measure's effectiveness would expire six months after the war, unless ended sooner by Congress or a presidential order.

Originally, these methods would have been sanctioned only when the attorney general certified that he had reason to believe there was about to be committed an act detrimental to the national welfare.

Information obtained through wire-tapping would be confidential, but could be used in connection with resulting prosecutions.

Fascism by Other Names

As a warning against fascism in this country, we are told that with the control the Department of Agriculture has over the farms of America now it would be but a short step under fascism to gain complete control of the farmers. Of course, we do not want fascism—that is, the true lovers of freedom do not. However, it is not just the name, but the substance, that makes fascism. Fascism is government control and ordering under private ownership. If the Department of Agriculture now has so large a degree of control over the farms of America that it would be but a short step to fascism, then, without the name, we have a large degree of fascism already.

One of our troubles in this country, and the cause of much confused thinking, is that we have been accepting many things that contain the substance of policies and systems we condemn when they are correctly labeled and called by their right names.

Lew Ayres Objects

(LaFollette's "Progressive")
Lew Ayres, whose magnificent performance in "All Quiet On The Western Front" has moved millions the world over, has demonstrated he is a man of courage in real life, too. You don't have to concur in his conscientious objections to admire the intestinal fortitude it must have taken for this popular movie star to face the venom of jingo press and the drudgery of a government camp because—

"I stand convinced that as like attracts like, hate generates hate, murder incites revenge, so charity and forgiveness reflect their kind, and the world's brotherhood will be made manifest not through economic expediences but through man's awakening to the irresistible power of love."

Ayres' courage has aroused the admiration of many Americans who do not agree with him. His decision represents a striking contrast with the sordid commercialism of movie house operators who have withdrawn his pictures from the screen.

By Charles H. Ingersoll
(Of Dollar Watch Fame)

NEW YORK.—English Labor Unions are not worrying with each other as are ours. There are no rights and lefts there—they are all lefts:—

Ingersoll

Communists. So they are trying to patch up our giant family war and get our rights—AFL—to stop biting Stalinists, and become a real member of the Happy Family.

Mr. Green doesn't quite know what to do. He has enjoyed the role of right for some years now, and has been glad to help round up the 5th columnists in the CIO, and he thought he was thereby making secure his treasures in Heaven. But things have gotten so shaky lately in everything he thought was conservatism and Americanism, that the place he has enjoyed with smug satisfaction is no longer comfortable.

Nor would this be the time for Mr. Green to announce the finish of a night-course in economics as a science, and the laws of rent, wages, and interest derived therefrom, the mandates from which were: 'All production being by labor, assisted by saved-up labor, capital, all product or profit thereon must be exactly divided between labor and capital, according to their share in production.'

This would retrieve about half of producers' incomes now going to basic monopolies via a consumer tax system, and bring Unionism back to where it was before John Lewis came along.

'The New Deal is more dynamic than Fascism, and more revolutionary than Communism' says the Editor of the New Republic, as toastmaster at a largely official dinner of insiders in Washington.

Whether reckless or not, it is near enough to the truth to have all our attention.

What would be more accurate is that the New Deal backs both Fascism and Communism; and tells exactly why. But this brain-trust editor and the select audience of 200 insiders from our three branches of government, know as little of what these two cults are as any 201 that could be picked.

Communism claims everything for 'the community'—all the people, collectively. Fascism is primarily interested in rugged individualism, or basic monopoly of the earth and its resources, and claims that all, no more recognizing society's rights than Marxists recognize the individual's rights.

Obviously New Deal, instead of taking sides in this both-equally-wrong ceaseless warfare, should back DEMOCRACY in a drive half way between them, since 'property' is about half individually and half socially created, and should be in the same way owned.

Bombing of Tokio and Yokohama

(Thursday night 9:45, KGB, April 23)

The Tribune-Sun of April 20, had a very timely editorial from which I shall quote two passages. The first quotation: "Bombing of Tokyo and Yokohama no doubt was a surprise to some of the United Nations, as it certainly was to Japan. It opens a new phase of the war in a spectacular manner, with Japanese reprisals almost certain to follow just as soon as the sons of Nippon can contrive them, if for no other reason than a saving of 'face'. For there is no doubt that the white man's prestige in Asia is one of the first things Japan is determined to destroy; and it cannot fairly be claimed that there is much of it left since the fall of Singapore."

In last week's issue of THE BROOM I emphasized the same point. As long as we are bombing Japan, now, we must get ready to be bombed even in San Diego. Above all things, I am always a realist and a materialist. Wishful thinking is not going to change the material fact of bombings. We have been prepared for such a contingency by previous blackouts and organization of civilian defense. Let us be aware that the Japs must save "face" as it is called in the Orient, even if they lose every plane and bomber they send over here. The best thing we can do is to be prepared and the best preparedness for us as civilians is to discipline ourselves to be cool-headed regardless or what happens. Panic and hysteria is the purpose of bombing, panic and hysteria we must control and eliminate. The physical damage of bombings is never as big as it sounds. We are killing more people in automobile accidents yearly than the Japs will be able to reach by bombing us. Besides, why not realize that each one of us is sentenced to death anyway. Whether we die tomorrow or next year or later, the fact of impending death is a reality. We might as well get used to it and be good sports. Our greatest enemy is fear. Our military preparations will take proper care of the Japs, but no amount of military preparation can control the individual attitude of the people. That we must control ourselves.

You know I have a mythical reputation of being fearless. I say advisedly "a mythical reputation", because I am as scared as any of you; but once a thing is bound to happen, then I snap out of it and forget my fears because I cannot afford to be ruled by fear. Bad enough that I am in danger of one kind or another, to become a victim of fear merely increases the actual danger. So I'll tell you the secret I am using to snap out of fear and you try it out and notice how well it works.

First, I command my mind to realize that 50 years from now it won't matter much, whatever seems to threaten me. That breaks the spell, but the fear comes back. So I command myself to forget everything and merely pay attention to the breath. I breathe in counting to seven, one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, then I breathe out again counting to seven. I do that ten times in succession and each time I turn in a finger against the palm of my hands. By the time I turned in the ten fingers, both hands are clenched into fists, I am ready for battle. This discipline of thinking of nothing except deep inhalation of the air and slow exhalation, breaks completely the spell of fear and eliminates it out of the system. It is too late to try the exercise when you are afraid. You must train yourself now. I do that several times a day, every day so that it becomes second nature, then when I get scared of something or of somebody, I fall in with the mental exercise of thinking of nothing and doing my breathing exercises, automatically. If you can keep your mind a blank and take long breaths, you can always restore sanity and clearness of vision. Then, as far as the world is concerned, you become a fearless person who takes advantage of every negative incident and turns it into capital profit. Begin with those exercises now, while you have a chance and be ready for the Japs' bombings. Civilian defense is well organized in our city and will take care of every emergency. All you have to do is to be free from mob hysteria and act like a normal person; you'll be surprised how nicely you'll survive it all.

The second quotation from the Tribune editorial states a bald fact: "Anybody with knowledge of what has happened in and to Asia since white men began exploiting its riches first and then its people, and who sees clearly what is happening in and to Asia now, must realize that white domination of the lost and threatened areas is a thing of the past."

HEALTH-GERMS

"YOUTH" is a state of mind—not a time in life.
By George Starr White, M. D.

BEDBUGS, BATS & SMALLPOX

LOS ANGELES.—It is claimed that San Antonio, Texas was the first city in the world to pass an ordinance prohibiting the killing of bats. Later, I am informed, the Texas legislature passed a law protecting bats.

Dr. Geo. Starr White

All this, I am told, was thru the discoveries of a physician of San Antonio, a well-known scientific observer. He discovered that bats ate the mosquito that carried the malarial poison. Consequently it became fashionable to have bats near by all places where these original vaccinating mosquitoes had their "offices".

The old-fashioned bedbug is a real sucker.

The dictionaries say the bedbug is a "blood-sucker". They not only suck blood, but they learned ages ago to inoculate others with what they had—vaccinate their human "friends" with their own blood, after mixing it (laboratory fashion) with the blood of another human.

This same doctor-scientist of San Antonio, says that bedbugs carry smallpox in the same manner as mosquitoes carry malaria. He surely knows as much about his inoculation and vaccination business as others and maybe a little more—for he is a Nature student.

If we believe that mosquitoes carry malaria, we can also easily believe that bedbugs carry smallpox for it can be proved in the same manner.

Scientists working for the great endowed laboratories, breed malarial mosquitoes, see that they are placed in a room with a well human being; and then after the "trained" mosquito bites (inoculates) the human, he soon develops malaria. That is so plain that anybody can prove it.

"No bedbugs no smallpox", is a good motto for public-health workers.

Thoughts on Ormuzd and Ahriman

By H. P. Blavatsky

Here is a suggestive fable and a charming allegory from the old Zoroastrian works. From the first incipient stage of Angra Mainyu's power, he and his wicked army of fiends opposed the army of Light in everything it did. The demons of lust and pride, of corruption and impiety, systematically destroyed the work of the Holy Ones. It is they who made beautiful blossoms poisonous; graceful snakes, deadly; bright fires, the symbol of deity, full of stench and smoke; and who introduced death into the world. To light, purity truth, goodness and knowledge, they opposed darkness, filth, falsehood, cruelty and ignorance. As a contrast to the useful and clean animals created by Ahura Mazda, Angra Mainyu created wild beasts and bloodthirsty fowls of the air. He also added insult to injury and deprecated and laughed at the peaceful and inoffensive creations of his elder brother. "It is thine envy," said the holy Yazatas one day to the unholy fiend, the evil-hearted, "Thou art incapable of producing a beautiful and harmless being, O cruel Angra Mainyu."

The arch-fiend laughed and said that he could. Forthwith he created the loveliest bird the world had ever seen. It was a majestic peacock, the emblem of vanity and selfishness, which is self-adulation in deeds.

"Let is be the King of Birds," quoth the Dark One, "and let man worship him and act after his fashion."

From that day "Melek Taus" (the Angel Peacock) became the special creation of Angra Mainyu, and the messenger through which the arch-fiend is invoked by some and propitiated by all men.

* The Yezidis, or "Devil Worshipers", some of whom inhabit the planes of ancient Babylonia, to this day worship Melek Taus, the peacock, as the messenger of Satan and mediator between the Arch-fiend and men.

BIBLE STUDY

By L. SABIN KENWORTHY, B. S., D. D., LTD.

Instructor of Translators

REMOVING THE PAGAN LETTER J
FROM THE BIBLE

The word "jot" is particularly unhappy in its use, noted only for its loss of sense of the speaker and writer, for it is only an attempt to transliterate an Aramaic word in the N. T., without any significance being given the reader, thus losing the sense of the writer. It is the name of the tenth letter in the Aramaic Table of Consonants and signifies on account of its smallness, that nothing even that small shall pass from the Old Hebrew Law. The sense of what the Master said was; "Neither the smallest consonant nor the half-vowel shall pass from the law . . ."

The Hebrew "de-rekh" is used 77 times in the sense of "a road" with the figurative sense of "way of life" or "action"; and with prepositions or particles as an adverb, "along", "away", and "because of", and its verbal forms are "to tread" by implication "to walk" or travel in any manner. So its "j" goes out of "journey". As a noun "judge" in the A. V. translates three Hebrew words, which points out some looseness in ideas. This is due to the political practices of the translators. In Judges 2,18 the plural form "judges" occurs which does not refer to political judges in our day. They were spiritual advisers who closed their eyes when they read for or advised their clientele, which gives rise to the Greek idea of "blind justice".

The word "majesty" occurs in the Auth. Ver. 28 times and in each a better synonym can aid the original better since the word is used to translate six Hebrew words, and two Greek words. Psalm 29,4. "majesty" here is unsuited to a description of the "voice" of Yoho-wah. The Hebrew reads aloud: "The Voice of Yoho-wah is powerful; The voice of Yoho-wah is glorious". So the letter "j" goes out these passages as out of all others on correct translation.

The capital "J" as the initial letter of proper nouns may be understood to be a wavering and misleading letter to have in a Book that is asserted to be "unwavering". And the force of turning it out is the Hebrew and Aramaic Grammatical rule: "No word nor syllable can commence with a vowel". This coupled with the other old Rule: "That proper nouns must be transliterated": That is spelled as the Hebrew and Aramaic spell them. These fasten the expulsion of the Letter "J". Leaser in his version tried to follow the rule and did so fairly well among the uncommon proper nouns but his spirit was weak when it came to the more numerous used names of persons and places. But considering the names simply, the majority is large in Leaser's version in the expelling of this malicious letter of concealing thought.

Since all Hebrew nouns are derived from verbs that had action or state idea in them, and to bring these into another language requires some understanding, else the English reader loses much information known to the Hebrew reader.

The old lovable and wise poem called in Hebrew "HIY-YOV" nicknamed "Job". This Hebrew name does not begin with a yod, "y". There is no excuse for this mis-translation, it is no attempt at transliteration. It comes from the Latin, which comes from the Greek "IOB". Its root is "hwb" and signifies one controlled by spirit. Brown Driver and Briggs say: "derivation and significance totally uncertain". But the idea of "return" thru the Arabic is full of significance. He had a great fortune which he lost and it returned to him in double fold. All thru spirit guidance.

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."
